We are happy to hear that Mr. and Mrs. Stan Berg (nee Nellie Mackay) are the proud parents of a baby son born on Sept. 24. That makes two sons and a daughter for the Bergs who make their home at Gwynne.

Mr. Gordon Hollinger was home last Sunday and had as his guests Miss Marian Johnson and her brother Melvin of Edmonton.

It is very nice to see both Mrs. Zoost and Miss Kitty Hagerup visiting about here every once in a while, as we did last week.

Sharon W.M.F. plans to meet in the church parlors on Friday, Oct. 10th. Please take notice of the change in date.

More welcome rain fell last weekend. However, we must count ourselves fortunate when we hear of the destructive storms at the same time not too far from us.

Jarrow News

Mr. and Mrs. M. Bilo and Sandra of Calgary visited in town on Thursday.

Seed Cleaning:

There will be no seeding done for nearly six months, yet this is a good time to start thinking about getting seed cleaned.

Those of you within reach of a Seed Cleaning Plant can contact the plant regarding a booking date for getting seed cleaned. This is a good time to get seed cleaned and put away ready for next spring. Roads are good now and it is easy to move around in the field. It is surprising too how often you can sell a few bushels of seed if it is already cleaned properly.

Returns from Land:

Net return per acre is what matters as far as a farmer is concerned. One problem which faces grain farmers is that they cannot always get their hands on the money they make. These last few years it has often been tied up in the granary waiting for a quota to open up. Forage crops can be a partial answer to this.

Land can be utilized in forage crop to provide hay and for pasture. This district will also grow some grass and clover seed which is not under quota. There is one farmer in my district who got a return of about $170.00 per acre from Russian Wild Rye Grass seed. This particular grass commands a high price because it is hard to grow for seed. However more common grasses such as Bromus and Crested Wheat seed consistently and will usually return $25.00 to $40.00 per acre. The same is true of Sweet clover. These figures are much closer to being profit than the same return per acre from wheat or course grains because the grass crop is only seeded once in four or five years. Also land broken up after being in forage crop is more productive than it was before.

Royal Winter Fair:

Anyone thinking of exhibiting grain or other products at the Royal should get their entry forms and fees in as these have to be in Toronto by October 23rd. Exhibits must be in Edmonton by November 3rd to be shipped east.

NEW U.S. IMPORT REGULATIONS

The present brucellosis import regulations require only a negative brucellosis test on the animals being exported within 30 days.

The new United States regulations applying to all importations of cattle from Canada, six months of age or over, except steers and all cattle for immediate slaughter, come into effect on October 11th.

I will bless the Lord at all times; His praise shall continually be in my mouth.

My soul shall make her boast in the Lord; the humble shall hear thereof, and be glad.

O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt His name together.

I sought the Lord, and He heard me, and relivered me from all my fears.

They looked upon Him, and were lightened; and their faces were not ashamed.

This poor man cried and the Lord heard him, and saved him out of all his troubles.

The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear Him, and delivereth them.

O taste and see that the Lord is good: blessed is the man that trusteth in Him. -Psalm 34:1-8.

News Report From Edmonton

By Ken Mason

EDMONTON—A new deal emerged last week for some 250 settlers in the Wanham land clearing project area of northern Alberta.

After an investigation of conditions by a four-member committee, the government adopted a program of aid for the area, where homesteaders face their second crop failure in as many years.

Under the new program, there will be a "careful land use classification and value appraisal" of each farm in the area, which is expected to result in a lower end price for the settler to pay to the government under the existing crop-share plan.

In addition, settlers will be given the option of selling out to the government, and will be reimbursed to some extent for fixed improvements. There also will be a "resettlement allowance" which will amount to a maximum of $500 for each family which decides to sell out.

In cases where a settler on sub-marginal land has performed sufficient residence and cultivation duties to obtain title but is prevented from doing so by crop share debts, the government can grant full title to the land. However, there will be a charge against the title equal to the amount of indebtedness.

Where farm property is classified as unsuitable for farming in the new appraisal, the land will be considered for establishment of community pastures as a means of stabilizing the economy.

In addition to these measures, the welfare department will conduct a survey to determine direct relief needs this winter, and a special district agriculturalist will be appointed to help overcome farming problems in the area.

The Wanham project has been a problem to the government ever since it was started 13 years ago as a veterans' settlement program, and in the new policy the government is more or less admitting that previous policies have left something to be desired.

Politicians have all but admitted that the Wanham project was a mistake. In the first place, the land is tough to farm, and for 13 years the project has been plagued by bad weather.

To compound the problem, many settlers have been employing unwise farming practices, and the result has been a succession of bad crop years in the area.

It's difficult to place blame, because all parties in the Legislature were represented on the committee which studied the matter before it was started, and at the time it seemed like a good idea.

But some highly placed civil servants who have come in direct contact with the project have been unhappy in recent years over the policy under which the project was administered. From what we hear, the new deal is approximately what they've been fighting to get for several years.

Word leaked out last week that the government of Alberta isn't too happy about the hydro power phase of the big South Saskatchewan River project in Saskatchewan.

The main worry is that the turbines will establish a prior claim to about four-fifths of the South Saskatchewan flow, and what will happen if, in future years, Alberta decides it needs that water.

Agriculture Minister Leonard Halmarst said water resources engineers are studying Alberta's position, and if a protest is warranted one will be made. The government is concerned because established use of water is entitled to protection under law, and it is possible that some day Alberta will want the South Saskatchewan for irrigation.

On the other hand, the Alberta government is reluctant to make a fuss, because it would be certain to antagonize Saskatchewan, Alberta, which has just about everything, might look bad wanting to deprive Saskatchewan of water for hydro.

The province has made its position clear before the prairie provinces water board, and that just might be the end of it for the time being—at least until a dispute arises over the use of water.

RURAL SCHOOLS - - - THEN AND NOW.

The passing of the little red school house fills most of us with sentiments bordering on nostalgia.

If only we could sit again on the splintered seat of that lovingly initiated desk, our scrubbed young faces virtuously turned on teacher as we rendered our inkwell for another dunking of Little Horntense's shining pigtail!

Or huddle again around the wood furnace, whose eccentricities during the winter months took more out of teacher than the toughest kid in school.

And teacher herself! How fondly we think of the Miss Smiths, Miss Joneses, Miss Browns whose pretty faces and clified ways annually won our hearts.

Yet the funny thing about life in the little red school house was that, when the recess bell rang, we were only too happy to leave it!

Today, freeing themselves from sentiment, most parents welcome the fact that Alberta's little red school houses are being replaced by well-equipped modern schools.

Centralization of school facilities in recent years has enabled school districts to provide the most modern buildings and facilities, even in the outlying rural areas.

With centralization has come another familiar sight—the yellow-colored school bus. But new schools and modern transportation facilities are all taken in their stride by today's youngsters—who, when you take a close look—haven't changed much from those who attended the little red school houses!

tips for a TRADITIONAL THANKSGIVING

by Marjorie Faszkarley,
Home Service Director.

Thanksgiving will soon be here - a day of memories for the family. Familiar foods help to bring back the ways and days we knew, so turkey and the trimmings will have first place on most tables. One thing we've discovered in recent years: turkeys have more admirable figures than they once did. They fit in the roaster better and often cook tender in less time. So be on the watch or your bird may be too overdue for carving. Here's a turkey dressing that will delight your family - and a few more ideas for your Thanksgiving table.

COLONY WALNUT DRESSING

Cook in one cup boiling water until tender the giblets from 1 turkey, 1 onion, sliced, and 1 bay leaf. Remove bay leaf, drain giblets and chop fine. Remove crusts, then break 1 lb. dry bread into crumbs. Combine ingredients with 1 tsp. salt, 2 tsp. poultry seasoning or sage, 2 cups chopped walnuts, 4 tsp. fat, melted. Toss together lightly. Moisten with giblet stock. Quantity will fill 12-14 lb. turkey.

CRANBERRY SALAD RING

2 cups cranberries
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. unflavored gelatin
1 tsp. salt
1 cup chopped pecans
1 cup diced celery
Wash cranberries, then cook till tender in 1 cup cold water. Add sugar, cook for 5 minutes. Soften gelatin in 1 cup cold water and dissolve in hot cranberries. Add salt and chill until mixture begins to thicken. Add pecans and celery; mix thoroughly. Pour into oiled ring mold and chill in your Gas refrigerator until ready to use. Unmold on large salad plate. Garnish with lettuce, orange slices and apple wedges as desired.

PILGRIM PUMPKIN PIE

1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. ginger
1/8 tsp. salt
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 1/2 cups mashed cooked pumpkin
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
2/3 cup heavy cream, whipped.
Combine ingredients and cook over boiling water until thickened. Fold in egg whites, then the cream. Pour into refrigerator tray and freeze. When ready to serve, pack into pie shell of favorite pastry or vanilla wafer crumbs. Serve at once.

FROZEN FRUIT JUICE APETIZER

Combine sweetened grapefruit, pineapple and orange juices and freeze in refrigerator tray for 1 hour, stirring every 20 minutes. Mixture may be left in tray until ready to serve.

GAS IS YOUR BEST HOUSEHOLD BARGAIN

Keeping you warm is only one of the many jobs that gas does better - for less! Have you ever stopped to count them all?
House Heating
Cooking
Water Heating
Refrigeration
Incineration
Clothes Drying
... all done automatically by gas.

As for the low cost of "letting gas do it", here's an example... a gas dryer will dry an average family's wash for as little as 13c a month! How many jobs around your house are being done better by gas? The more you use the more you realize - that GAS IS YOUR BEST HOUSEHOLD BARGAIN!

FILTER-CHECK YOUR FURNACE NOW!

To prepare your furnace for the big job it will do this winter... better check your filters now! If yours is a permanent filter, we suggest you clean it before the cold weather sets in.

If you have a "disposable" filter, replace it at the beginning of the winter season if it is loaded with dust.

The fan motor on your furnace will need attention too. Has it been checked and lubricated lately? If you do not wish to check and maintain your furnace yourself, your gas fitter or heating equipment dealer will do it for you at reasonable cost. Remember... a "fall furnace check" now is your best assurance of utmost fuel savings - and a warm, trouble-free winter!

WHO'S WATCHING THE POT?

The "burner with a brain" is! While the pot bubbles on the range, the housewife can attend to her homemaking... bath the baby... or even go shopping. No fear of food burning or boiling over... no running to the range to turn burners up or down. The "burner with a brain" has a remarkable sensing element which feels the heat of the pot or pan and regulates the flame automatically! You can cook the breakfast bacon, keep the supper warm for serving, bake a cake on the top of the range - and forget about pot watching! Important... this is not a forecast of a future cooking miracle. It's one of the "miracle features" you get now with a modern, fully automatic GAS range! And only on gas ranges do you have your top burner control graduated in degrees of heat - for completely accurate settings.

THIS WEEK IS NEWSPAPER WEEK

This week has been set aside as Newspaper Week in Canada. This gives the weekly newspapers, that number almost a thousand, to toot their own horns a bit and tell the world that they are very much alive not only this week but every week. (That's our opinion).

We must give due credit to our rural correspondents who gather such friendly news of their areas each week, also those contributors who phone in or hand in items each week.

A perusal of our paper also shows we have wide awake local merchants who use space in each issue informing customers of the latest in fashions, food, and clothing, cars, radios, television sets, farm machinery, etc. National firms use the column of our paper most every week.

You never see your home town paper thrown into the gutter or waste basket before being read, do you?

A newspaper always commands an audience with prospective customers. It is never thrown aside without first being read from cover to cover. Then it is borrowed by others.

An advertisement in this paper will reach over 90 per cent of the buyers in the local and adjoining trade territory.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OCTOBER 5-11

Attention is being called throughout Canada to the great loss caused by fires each year.

The 1957 Annual Report of the Alberta Fire Commissioner reveals that of a total of 2,980 fires reported in Alberta in 1957, a total of 991, roughly one-third of all the reported fires, were caused by smokers' carelessness. The property loss from this cause was $125,101.00.

The next known largest cause was electricity—360 fires and damage of $495,010 were reported to have been caused by electricity. This figure of $495,310 represents the largest single known property loss for 1957. The total fire loss for the province amounted to $8,532,451.00, or a per capital loss of $5.68.

INDIANS PREDICT A COLD WINTER

An Indian chief up around Rocky Mountain House was again predicting a long cold winter in Alberta. The chief was wrong last year and could be again, we hope. Long range weather predictions for any part of the world is only guess work, except for meteorologists who have studied the weather conditions for years and sometimes they make a bad guess. They seem to have some accurate information as to where the paths of hurricanes may lead and when they will strike violently and eventually peter out.

Some believe that the launching of earth satellites, atomic bomb explosions, Sputniks and other scientific inventions sent into space has had some effect on weather conditions. The study of the earth's atmosphere and outer space is receiving a great deal of attention by scientists and astrologers and they may knock the Indian Chief's prediction into a cocked hat.

Well, we expect some snow before and after Christmas and on through March. Thirty below zero once or twice in January and February, but on the whole, a winter somewhat like 1957-58. But remember what the Indian chief predicts.

GOVERNMENT TO HOLD LOTTERY

The first government-sponsored lottery in the province's history is slated for late this week or early next week.

There will be 2,500 winners, and each will receive a special licence to hunt antelope in southeastern Alberta between Nov. 1 and Nov. 8.

The lottery is necessary because applications for antelope licences exceed the number of permits to be issued. Last year the licences were issued on a first come first served basis.

Game biologists decided on the basis of scientific studies that 2,500 licences this year would provide the limit of hunting pressure on the southern antelope herd.

Last week, the game branch had received only around 1,300 application for licences, and it appeared a lottery would not be necessary.

However, Tuesday was dead-

The Super "88" Holiday SemiCoupe is one of two new body styles offered by Oldsmobile in 1958. The Oldsmobile has been completely restyled, with more glass area, passenger and luggage space and a host of engineering and accessory advancements. Steering is easier. There are new Air-Scoop brakes on all four wheels. Two new engines will mean greater operating economy. The windshield, with up to 570 square inches more glass, cuts deep into the roofline to give an unobstructed view of overhanging traffic signals. The wide, heat-resistant band across the top of the tinted rear window reduces heat penetration by about 84 per cent. Sculptured twin booms sweep full length along the body, highlighting Oldsmobile's unique two-tone styling for 1958.
